Roberto Pătrășcoiu
National Director
Habitat for Humanity Romania

If I look back at 2022, there is not a single hesitation on which has been the most significant event.

On 24th of February, Putin invaded Ukraine and, the next day, thousands of refugees were fleeing in Romania, seeking peace and shelter.

That night I could not sleep.

Managing an organization that provides decent shelter for the vulnerable, I knew we must do something.

I decided to travel immediately at the border with Ukraine. Jumped in a plane and next morning I was there in the north of the country, witnessing the despair, hopelessness and the fear of the thousands of souls- mostly women and children—who fled the war in their country. I talked to refugees and most of them were asking where they can sleep.

They were needing a safe shelter immediately.

With the help of amazingly generous sponsors, Habitat Romania managed to develop in just couple of days a whole network of emergency accommodation for refugees.

At the peak, we were sourcing more than 80 properties (hotels, apartments, flats, pensions) every single day.

But this required a lot of capacity deployed at the border points with Ukraine and in railway stations. We were just a team of 20 people and I knew we need that all of us have to go in the front line. I remember I wrote a short message to my whole team:

“Dear colleagues. We need to establish a permanent presence at the border points with Ukraine. Please, all of you, prepare to travel.”

After I wrote the message, it took me three hours until I found the courage to hit the "send" button.

This time was different. It was not about me anymore. I was sending my whole team to the break zone.

But what followed it was maybe the ride of a lifetime.

The team made an amazing job and helped thousands of refugees with a safe shelter, alleviating their pain and suffering. And no matter how brave they were in the front line, I know that many of them were crying in the evening from all the suffering they were exposed to, during the day. I was doing the same. My fundraising team secured amazing support from donors, which kept us going and becoming stronger in terms of capacity every day.

But the greatest recognition came from the thousands of thank you messages that the refugees sent us. This boosted our morale and gave us more energy to move forward.

By the end of the year, we managed to help more than 3000 souls with shelter. And none of this could have ever been possible without your support: donors, volunteers and friends of Habitat. I enclose here a full report which can easily be replaced by two words: Thank You!

A safe shelter away from home

“Here, not only we do feel safe, but also surrounded by care”

- Obuhova Iulia, April 27, 2022

2022 was marked by a tragedy: Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine has forced millions of people to flee their homes, taking little or nothing with them, desperate to find stability, warmth, and a place to live in safety and dignity.

Habitat for Humanity Romania responded to this crisis from the very beginning. First, by providing immediate help to Ukrainian refugees arriving at the Romanian borders in March 2022 and then, by supporting their short-, mid- and long-term housing needs to achieve stability and recovery. And our efforts continue today.

The humanitarian crisis and our immediate response

On the 24th of February 2022, at dawn, Russia launched a full-scale invasion of Ukraine, starting a conflict that resulted in a solid humanitarian crisis.

We responded to the Ukraine refugee crisis from the very first weeks. We were present with teams at the most transited border points, in Siret and Isaccea, but also in Bucharest at the North Railway Station where we met refugees with on-the-spot information and answers to their questions. During those early cold days, we donated electric heating devices and backpacks with external batteries. Beyond meeting those immediate needs, we helped refugees secure hotel accommodations.

When their needs changed, we started the social rental program and we rented apartments in Bucharest for families in need of long-term accommodation, covering all rent and utility costs.

Further, in partnership with the local government, we transformed three buildings in Bucharest into long-term housing, including a full refurbishment of a three-story building and the creation of a social hub offering a range of services to help stabilize hundreds of families.

Long-term housing (refurbished buildings)

A key element in our Ukraine response has been the renovation of empty buildings that can safely accommodate families fleeing the war.

1. Edmond Nicolau Refugee Center

One of the most challenging renovation projects has been to refurbish and convert the top three floors of a long-vacant office building in Bucharest. Working in partnership with the district 2 City Hall of Bucharest, Edmond Nicolau Technical College, UNICEF Romania and other NGOs, we successfully transformed the building into a long-term accommodation center and social hub for Ukrainian refugees.

The center has the capacity to provide long-term accommodation for more than 100 refugees and transitory accommodation for more than 20 refugees.

We wanted for the Ukrainian refugees to feel as part of a community, to benefit from medical, counseling, educational and recreational services and even specialized support for their integration on the Romanian labor market. Some of the children of the center are even enrolled in the educational system in Romania, and another part attends the online school courses in Ukraine, which they can access thanks to the center's facilities.

2. UTCB dormitory, kitchen and dining room

Knowing that, in addition to accommodation, refugees are also in need of a place where they can benefit from a hot meal, we accepted the challenge to arrange a kitchen and a dining room inside dormitory C2 of UTCB, a space that has been offering medium-term accommodation since the beginning of March 2022. We immediately mobilized resources and started working so that on the 4th of April, we began renovating the walls and ceiling, and on the 14th of April, right before Easter, the first meal was already being prepared in the new kitchen. Since its inauguration, more than 600 refugees have been able to enjoy the new facilities.

3. The Carousel Center

At the beginning of March, Carousel Association, in partnership with Bucharest City Hall, inaugurated a short-term accommodation center for refugees.

But the outstanding number of people from Ukraine looking for a shelter made it difficult for a limited space to host over 300 refugees. This led, as well, to the rapid degradation of sleeping and health facilities.

After discussions with employees and beneficiaries, the need for renovation and space increase became inevitable. Therefore, we invested time and resources in the refurbishment and creation of an outdoor dining space, kitchen and a playground much appreciated by children. With everything in place, the center was inaugurated before the 1st of June, on Children's Day.

Through their eyes

We build for them

It is not only the alarming statistics on housing conditions that express the need to build, but every call for help made by the families having to face them.

We build homes to give them the future they otherwise cannot have access to. From the moment they step on the construction site with the desire to work alongside volunteers for their dream, they become partner families and, most of the time, they gladly offer to help other families.

Gabriel and Lavinia Iliescu have two children, Adriana (6 years old) and Rareș (3 years old).

High rent costs and poor living conditions forced them to move countless times over the past 3 and a half years. From apartments where mold was constantly spreading, and putting children's health at risk, to old houses where the toilet was in the yard, children bathed in the basin, running water was missing and Gabriel's workplace was increasingly difficult to access, due to distance.

Now, Adriana and Rareș have their own room, full of books and toys. Lavinia told us that they see better results at school since they moved here, because Adriana has her own desk, where she does her homework. After presenting us with her collection of books, Adriana told us that she finally feels like the other children.

Helping the Ukrainian families having A safe shelter away from home

“ Ukraine and supporting countries are now like a big family ” said Olena, mother of two, to describe the warm welcome she, her relatives and friends received when they travelled to neighbouring countries.

Olena and her children Nazar and Milena are living in an apartment in Bucharest rented by Habitat for Humanity Romania, for an indefinite period.

The family left the Ukrainian city of Vasylkiv on the 2nd of March. After a few days spent on the road, they arrived in Romania, where they are planning to stay until the end of the war.

Milena aged 13, has a talent for drawing. Since the conflict began in her country, she finds the only way she can express her painful feelings is to draw. The family has had to lean on each other, as this is the first time they have been separated from their father for so long.

“ We will stay in Romania until it is safe to return home ”

Tatiana (39 years old), Andrei (44 years old) and their daughters Nasta (17 years old) and Lisa (12 years old) have left their home twice in the last 8 years because of the conflict between their country and Russia. In 2014 they left the Donetsk region to move to Kharkiv, where they would remain until this year, in February, when the city was bombed.

On the 5th of March, they had to leave their house again to find shelter in another city in Ukraine, but not for so long. They decided to register to a list of survivors because they wanted to leave the country.

When they crossed the border to Romania, they announced that they needed temporary accommodation, and the volunteers told them to contact Habitat for Humanity Romania. They were accommodated in an apartment in Bucharest, for an indefinite period.

Andrei, the father, found a job right in the neighborhood where they live, as a mechanic at a car service, and Tatiana is a nail artist. Nasta, the eldest daughter is studying philology and Lisa, her sister, is in the 6th grade.

In their family are also 2 dogs and a cat, which they did not leave behind when they left home.

Hope Build is an accelerated building and volunteering project where we build multiple homes in just 5 days, with the help of local and Hilti volunteers.

Hope Build concept and volunteering experience

We strongly believe that volunteers can change the world, the world of families that regain their independence and dignity, in a safe and decent place they get to call home.

We believe that only through continuous efforts can we achieve social impact and build homes, communities and hope.

“Now we share a special bond. We were helping each other all the time. No one was left behind. When I close my eyes and think about that week, I got that smile remembering every face, every moment we shared.”

- Hope Build 2022 volunteer

This year, in partnership with Hilti Foundation, Hilti and its employees, we built 12 homes for 12 families in 2 communities—at Poduri, Bacău county and Cumpăna, Constanța county.

Immediate purpose

Help families living in difficult conditions move rapidly into a decent home .

Long-term purpose

Draw attention to the housing problems that affect so many people in Romania.

Volunteers can choose how many days and during which period they would work on the construction sites, depending on their availability. The moments they share together, building alongside the partner families for a better future remains close to their hearts, as many of them told us.

The Hilti Foundation x Habitat for Humanity Romania partnership—a model of collaboration

As lead partners of the Hope Build project, we relied on the Hilti Foundation, the Hilti Group and its employees in Europe. The partnership began in 2021 through a pilot project and, since then, we have been working to bring people together for our common goal. The Hilti team got involved through the Engaged Beyond Business volunteering program and wished to help reshape their communities.

Habitat and Hilti have cooperated to give people back control of their lives through access to decent housing. At the same time, the initiative had an important advocacy component through its role of creating awareness about housing problems affecting to many families in Romania.

The main purpose of the program is to encourage employees to volunteer for social causes, outside the business sphere and, naturally, outside their comfort zone.

We carefully selected the beneficiaries following our commonly agreed criteria:

- Have an urgent need for housing
- Come from a low income family
- Willing to be a true partner and get involved in construction phases alongside with the volunteers.

The families we built for 12 families worked shoulder to shoulder with volunteers on the 4 construction sites in 2022. The families are selected according to certain criteria.

Georgiana Olescu is a single mother of two children (Roberto, 13 years old, David, 7 years old) and lives in Cumpăna, Constanța county. They had to leave home because of the father's aggressive behavior. One of the children is confronted with a rare syndrome (Klippel Feil), and his medical care is expensive. They all lived with a relative, and Georgiana struggled to support her family from her modest income.

We ♥ volunteers

“ I wish we had a place where my 4 children could flourish ” said Daniela Bădău. As a single mother, she has always struggled to give her children the best she could. As one of the children suffers from leukemia, Daniela is employed as a social worker, but the income did not allow them to move out of the overcrowded house they shared with her parents.

Ionut Fandarac and Melisa Georgiana Miu have a son together, Vladimir Andrei, and were expecting their second child when they came to Habitat for help. Both were forced to drop out of school due to family problems and have been working to secure a future for their children ever since. The family previously stayed with Melissa's parents, making a total of 7 adults and 2 children living under the same roof. Hardship never stopped them from...

“...putting aside every penny to make their dream of a home come true.”

Through a successful Habitat x Hilti partnership, the 3 families together with 9 others could work for their dream and receive the chance of a new beginning as part of the Habitat community.

Our hearts, hands and voices

Volunteers change the world

At its core, Habitat for Humanity Romania is a volunteering organization. For each project, individual or corporate volunteers join our mission and get involved through various means to make a difference in the world. They believe, as we do, that the world can indeed become a better place, and together we can change lives.

“ We were volunteers at Habitat for Humanity Romania, and it was a wonderful experience from which we learned, once again, what does the power of community mean for a common cause. ”

Regardless of their background or occupation, when they come to a Habitat site, all volunteers work for a common goal and motivate each other to finish the work in a timely manner. It's not about laying tiles on the house, it's about building a HOME—a safe place that has decent conditions for families in need. It's about writing a new chapter in their lives.

“ It's hard to sum up in a few words the whole experience and what you feel when you see, from day to day, how the house is built into shape, and you know that you contributed to this whole process. ”

What does it mean to be a corporate volunteer?

Volunteers who arrive on site through the companies they work for experience unique moments, namely hours or days spent outside their comfort zone. There are many benefits for which companies in the country choose to become partners of Habitat, including increasing the civic sense, empowering employees, improving morale and developing a strong sense of teamwork. All these aspects will lead to a more efficient working environment over time.

“What Habitat for Humanity Romania does, changes not only the lives of the beneficiaries of the houses built, but also gives us, the volunteers, the opportunity to experience what it means to build a house from scratch and your work no longer involves sitting in front of a laptop.”

What does it mean to be an individual volunteer?

Habitat for Humanity Romania offers the opportunity to come to the construction site to people of all ages and backgrounds. Year after year, friends of the Habitat mission from the country gather, united by the desire to make a change with their own hands.

“Habitat for Humanity Romania is not just about building houses, it's about people, teamwork, hope and a lot of goodwill. Without all this, nothing could have come true.”

Volunteer involvement in 2022

In 2022, more than 891 corporate volunteers and 169 individual volunteers joined our sites, as part of our building projects. They invested energy and especially time—a total of 10,482 hours of volunteering—to fulfill the families' dream of having a place of their own.

“ These days on the construction site were a live lesson in great teamwork ”

The context

Home is where a child learns to have a place of their own. It is a safe place for play and nurturing, which is a key part for social and emotional development. The home is also where important interactions happen with parents, friends, siblings, and others in the community. Growing up in a decent, affordable home can have a powerful effect on children.

Moreover, the development of social and emotional skills depends heavily on the experiences that children have in their home.

Romania is confronted with troubling housing figures, and children are the ones affected the most by the difficult living conditions. For them and their families, a house doesn't mean just four walls and a roof but is actually the first step towards becoming part of society and developing self-esteem.

The creative outcomes

The message was delivered through an emotional video, which ran on TV, social media and was followed by a radio spot and a digital campaign (Google Ads, Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn). Both individual and corporate donors were mobilized. They were given several options through which they can get involved, namely:

- A SMS with the text "HABITAT" to 8845 through which 2 euros are donated monthly
- Redirecting 20% of the corporate tax for companies
- Online donation by card.

Our ambitions

Raise awareness about the need of decent housing and poor living conditions in Romania and increase the fundraising results through a memorable campaign.

Through the Affordable Housing program, Habitat for Humanity Romania builds and rehabilitates homes in partnership with disadvantaged families from various communities who urgently need decent housing. Projects are carried out with the help of volunteers and vary in duration. Homes can be built gradually, over several months, or at an accelerated pace, in only 5 days.

The aim of the program is to facilitate access to decent living conditions for low-income families.

New Homes Berceni

We are building 3 quadruplexes in Berceni commune, Prahova County.

In 2021, work was completed on the first quadruplex (4 apartments) and 4 families eagerly moved in on the eve of the winter holidays. In the last month of 2022, work on quadruplex 2 was also completed, and work on the third will begin in March 2023.

The Alexe and Iliescu families move into their new home

“ We moved here on December 24. We didn't even have furniture yet, but we wanted to catch the New Year in our house. ”

Gabriela Alexe (21 years old) told us while watching with her husband Valentin (24 years old) at their little girl, Evelina, as she plays in her room.

“ We didn't expect our lives to change so much ”

Lavinia Iliescu, mother of Adriana (6) and Rareș (3), told us, after she and her husband Gabriel had lived only in unfavorable conditions until then. She warmly welcomed us into their home, where the children took turns introducing us to each toy.

New Homes Moinești

4 families from Moinești commune, Bacău county moved to the quadruplex we are building.

Previously, we built an entire housing district in Moinești and we continue to support various disadvantaged areas in Bacău County. In 2022 we continued the work with the help of volunteers coming mostly through the international GV program and were able to complete it in early 2023.

The Platon and Popa families move into their new home

Ionela Platon (39 years old) dreamed of a place where she could raise her children, Mihai (8 years old) and Ioana (6 years old) in decent conditions, where they could develop. They used to live in an overcrowded dwelling with the children's grandmother and had to sleep all three in one room.

Mihaela Popa (45) is a mother of 4 girls, and they lived in a rented apartment with their grandmother. Due to conflicts, she divorced the girls' father and they had to fend for themselves from that moment on. Mihaela told us how much she wants a new beginning, in a house of their own.

Consolidation work in Comănești

73 families from Comănești, Bacău County received help to rehabilitate their homes.

When we don't have the capacity to build houses in a community, we distribute various materials to help families consolidate their homes and conduct vital repairs.

Habitat came to the aid of families from Comănești and its surroundings who lived in inadequate conditions by distributing construction materials—sheet metal, downpipes, gutters and other accessories for rainwater collection, washable paint, lamps, etc—and 100 kits for home maintenance and repair.

Through the Sustainable Communities program, Habitat for Humanity Romania builds or rehabilitates educational centers, centers for social and professional integration, centers for emergency situations, and more.

All projects are implemented in areas with major risk of underdevelopment. We can build stronger, sustainable communities only with the help of our volunteers and partners – local authorities, companies and other non-governmental organizations.

The areas in question are confronted with multiple problems, including lack of jobs and infrastructure, limited access to health services, social exclusion and early school abandonment among children. Ensuring the efficiency and sustainability of projects leads, over time, to the development of communities.

Bufkids Canteen

Children from 2 vulnerable communities of Buftea can now enjoy a daily hot and fresh meal.

Two years after the Buftea Community Center, the works for the canteen, where the Center's children could serve a daily hot meal, were completed.

The center was designed as an afterschool to offer children from two vulnerable communities of Buftea—Flămânzeni and Buciumeni—a better chance at education and to reduce the risk of them dropping out of school. They can now enjoy various extracurricular activities in a safe and welcoming environment, without having to worry about food anymore.

Alex, the 5th grade, has made amazing progress since the center opened, from an educational but also a behavioral perspective. He evolved from a hasty, short-tempered and impatient child, who didn't have the patience to multiply 2 by 2 into someone who is calm, confident and proud to have received an award in school. Alex eagerly called us 4 times during summer break to ask us when the center will reopen.

SOS Housing Dăm verde binelui

In 2021, SOS Children's Villages became the first social community to produce its own green energy. Habitat for Humanity Romania contributed to the installation of photovoltaic panels in the courtyard of the village, in Bucharest.

watch video

In 2022, the second stage of the project was completed, namely the rehabilitation and energy efficiency of the Children's Club with the help of volunteers. The entire project is carried out in partnership with ENGIE Romania.

Livezi School

Children and teachers of Livezi School, in Bacău County, have a new bathroom.

The Procter & Gamble - Habitat for Humanity Romania partnership made possible the inauguration of a new project in Livezi, Bacău County. About 170 children and teachers from the local school have access to a completely new toilet, which offers significantly improved conditions in terms of health protection. The building was built from scratch as an integrated space in the existing school, replacing an annex difficult to use during winter—and not only—due to the lack of running water.

Advocacy initiatives

Context

Following Habitat for Humanity's outstanding mobilization during the humanitarian crisis in Ukraine, the Government of Romania, through the Ministry of Public works, invited us to take part in the ministerial working group in charge with the development of the National Housing Strategy 2022-2050.

One of our main recommendations was that Romania pilots and implements the model of “social rental agencies”, as a strategic medium and long-term direction (both for refugees and national population).

By law 842/ 29.06.2022, Romania adopted its first ever National Housing Strategy (2022-2050), which included Habitat for Humanity Romania's recommendation. The Strategy has identified and proposed the “Social Rental Agency” model as one of the key reforms of the housing sector in the country.

Product donations

A great way to support Habitat for Humanity Romania in line with your business and an amazing opportunity to use your products for a practical and socially responsible activity. It is also a good way to introduce your products to a new potential market group in an area of planned business expansion.

Product donations can range from insulation material to innovative design consultancy, pro bono media coverage to corporate advocacy. We accept all products that will benefit the families in their new home such as building materials, tools, and safety equipment.
